About This Content

Flights to and from Airport Berlin-Brandenburg are now possible as Germany's most famous hub opens its gates. Don't believe that? You can – with the brand-new add-on "Airport Berlin-Brandenburg" we bring what is probably Europe's largest airport construction site to XPlane 11.

From the very beginning Berlin-Brandenburg Airport was not a very lucky project. Construction work began in September 2006 and the opening to the public was scheduled for October 2011. The construction progress falls more and more behind the initial schedule and costs have been skyrocketing ever since. The airport has suffered from continued delays; it is far from completion and as of now an opening date is still not in sight.

The add-on Mega Airport Berlin-Brandenburg professional covers the existing Airport Berlin Schönefeld as well as the adjacent new international airport. Two configurations make it easy to switch between the current status and one where the new airport is already open.
